

1 This smaller body would be able to transact
2 the electorate's business in clear view of the public,
3 and would, we think, be in a better position to make 4 citizens and public enemies their main concern.

5 These superior legislators selected to serve in a 6 unicameral body should cause the end result to be a better
7 percentage of participation by the people, of the people,
8 and for the people.
